911 Remembrance and Service

A quarter century after the September 11, 2001 attacks, 100 million Americans are too young to remember the day that changed our city and nation forever. It is our shared promise — made 25 years ago — to never forget so those born after 9/11 learn its significance and enduring legacy. As we commemorate this anniversary, a new generation will learn about the unimaginable loss we experienced and the inspiring stories of bravery, compassion, unity, and service that we witnessed, and have rippled through the decades.

Twenty-five years later, we invite you to remember, reflect, and learn with us — at the National September 11 Memorial & Museum in lower Manhattan, through our many online programs, or by acting in your own community. Download our anniversary toolkit for opportunities to be part of the 9/11 Memorial & Museum mission in 2026.

HAPPY GRANDPARENT’S DAY

Poem by Joe Scruggs

You know that grandmas are a wonderful thing!
'Cause they always rock and they always sing.
And they love to cuddle and their laps are great.
When it's time to see grandma, I can't wait.

And you know grandpas are really something grand!
They never yell, they always understand.
And they can fix just about any old thing
from a broken heart to a broken swing.

Yes, Grandparents, they sure named them right.
'Cause grandparents are a grand delight.
And they always love you, If you're good or bad.
Like you're the best grandkid they ever had.

They are the parents or your fathers and mothers,
but sometimes there might be others.
Like the nice old lady who lives down the street
who remembers your birthday and calls you sweet.

Or the nice old man who's a friend of your Dad's,
and he tells you stories from when he was a lad.
And he gives you pennies and he tells you jokes.
They're not related to you or your folks.

But you call them Grandma and Grandpa too and that's OK for you to do.
'Cause kids need all the grandparents they can get.
No one's had too many yet.
